Reminder: we're using the same Memorial Acclamation throughout this liturgical year:

When we eat this bread and drink this cup...

Should sing this at all masses? There's still some confusion at said masses with the previous translation. Let me know your views.

Parish Gathering Monday 6 th Feb 7pm in the Old Sacristy	Following the announcement that Ampleforth will be withdrawing from the Parish in 2012, I would like to invite you to a parish gathering tomorrow evening at 7pm in the newly refurbished Old Sacristy. Access is currently via the chancel due to building works in progress. This is an opportunity to come together as a parish and play our part, and each to have their own voice, in helping to secure and shape our future. I will be making an announcement about this at Mass today and would be happy to reread it at the gathering tomorrow Monday if anybody wants to hear it again.
Works in progress	Heating system. A lot of the pipework now in place: I went down to have a look last week. Looking good. Memorial Chapel. Glass wall and door under manufacture. Plastering and final work on the tiles due for completion. Our Lady of Lourdes. Lighting commissioned. Candles stand to be reinstated New Sacristy. Under transformation.
Liturgical actions	Please note the rubrics in red on the Mass card: During the I Confess (which we haven't used yet), striking their breast. During the Creed all bow at the words of Incarnation.
Message from Molly	Those with outstanding CRB forms to return them to Molly as soon as possible please.
Question of the Week	Last week: Q: Who was the youngest man ever to be elected Pope? A: Benedict IX. It used to be said that he was twelve, but more recently scholars have reckoned him to have been about twenty when elected in 1032 This week: Q: Easter Sunday is a moveable feast, unlike Christmas which is always on 25 th December; how is the date of Easter calculated?
